world where the enemy now lies in every shadow - where neighbour informs on neighbour; where friends disappear without warning and often without trace - love can demand the highest price of all... A river cruise is undoubtedly the most civilized way to see the best of Europe; you can relax in the comfort of a small vessel as you glide through picturesque towns and spectacular scenery. But how do you choose which cruise company, which kind of rivership, and where to go? This thoroughly updated and expanded new edition of the Berlitz guide to River Cruising in Europe will tell you everything you need to know about taking a cruise along Europe's beautiful rivers and waterways. The book cuts through the brochures' hype - almost every river cruise company promises you luxury. But what does 'luxury' really mean? The guide gives you unbiased advice on the different kinds of river vessels and the facilities they offer, helping you to make an informed choice. We take you on a journey along Europe's rivers and waterways, describing the highlights along the way - the historic cities and majestic scenery of the Danube, the castles and vineyards of the romantic Rhine, and much more. Also included are listings for over 200 riverships which are described and impartially rated, so that you can easily compare them and their facilities. If you want a holiday that's hassle-free, virtually pre-paid, and that lets you see lots of places while only needing to pack and unpack once, then you should try a cruise. This best-selling book is the cruise industry bible: it gives you all the information you need to choose the right cruise for you. Meticulously updated every year by cruise expert Douglas Ward, it is divided into two main parts: the first helps you work out what you're looking for in a cruise holiday and how to find it; the lively text and colour photographs describe every aspect of life on board, including safety, the highs and lows of the cruise experience and how to save money. The second part contains unbiased reviews and fascinating detail of almost 300 ocean-going cruise vessels, and grades them on service, food, entertainment and facilities, using an internationally recognised ratings system. A cruise down the river Rhine from Amsterdam to Basel on a Viking River Cruises longship. With the fast paced growth of the cruise industry, from ocean to river cruising along with destinations and more options, another part of the growth has been the addition of women executives leading cruise lines themselves. Today there are numerous women cruise line presidents and vice presidents as well as one woman who's actually a Brand Chairman, and another woman who is a co-founder and co-owner. These women have worked hard in their respective careers, successfully balancing their personal lives with work, have overcome challenges, and have continued to grow themselves professionally and personally. These women lead by example, are real human beings, truly care about the people within the cruise line they lead, and are passionate about the cruise industry. In How Six Women Executives Steer the Cruise Industry Today, these cruise women executives share their stories with personal touches. All of these women have different stories on how they first got into the travel and cruise industry. After struggling to find a job after graduating from college, one of these women said she separately reac out to a start-up cruise line where she got a job answering phones and taking bookings. Another worked as a "Girl Friday" for a travel agency. Another fun story? One of these women wanted to be a flight attendant, but didn't meet the required height requirements, so she got a job at a travel agency. These women have successfully balanced out running these cruise lines while also having families. One of these cruise line presidents jokingly mentioned that when one of her daughters was two years old, she knew the difference between a ship and a boat! These extraordinary women leaders steering the cruise industry today include Diane Moore, President, Paul Gauguin Cruises; Ellen Bettridge, President & CEO of Uniworld Boutique River Cruise Collection®; Edie Rodriguez, Americas Brand Chairman and Corporate Special Advisor, PONANT; Jan Swartz, Group President, Princess Cruises® and Carnival Australia; Kristin Karst, Executive Vice President and Co-Owner, AmaWaterways(tm); and Christine Duffy, President of Carnival Cruise Line®. Most of these women executives had men as mentors as they moved up in their careers. Another charismatic woman leader who has mentored both men and women, sharing her positive impact is Sister Jean, Team Chaplain, Chicago's Loyola University Ramblers - they made it into the 2018 NCAA Final Four. As far as her words of wisdom, Sister Jean says that when it comes to achieving goals and never giving up, "It's really about people. And it goes back to the core of three important things - worship, work hard, and win." Her insights add more to what makes a great leader with her own personal stories. These women lead by example, and they are an inspiration to the world. Their wonderful stories can be found in How Six Women Executives Steer the Cruise Industry Today. This colorful book of food invites even the most discriminating palate to play with his/her food. Edible ingredients are transformed into whimsical happy faces by the expert hand of chef Rudi Sodamin. In this inventive volume, he uses both everyday and luxury foods—grapes, apples, chile peppers, salmon roe, caviar, and black truffles, among many other items—to craft more than 150 funny faces that are sure to inspire both laughter and wonder. Like a modern Arcimboldo, Sodamin has carefully assembled these images using nothing but food items. Each face is a unique piece of art: vibrant in color, rich in texture and constructed in an incredibly imaginative way. This book has a universal appeal that crosses all ages, languages, cultures—and food groups. Food Faces makes a great gift for anyone who needs a little lift. The Danube is the most adventurous river in Europe, and Budapest is the city where this intrepid body of water is at its most spectacular. The Danube is part of the city, which simultaneously constitutes part of the river. Their fate and history are welded into one. Together they have experienced misfortune as well as prosperity. The Danube is an eternal muse--inspiring music, poetry, fiction, and images. László Lugosi Lugo discovers its mystery through a selection of stunning photographs. This bilingual edition includes English and Hungarian. Exploring inland waterways is one of the most popular forms of activity holiday in Britain. You can drift through miles of glorious countryside, investigate fascinating relics of former industries and, not least, marvel at the feats of engineering - the locks, tunnels and aqueducts - that carry the canals throughout the length and breadth of the country. Getting onto the water couldn't be simpler: you just hire a boat. But what sort of boat? How do you handle and maintain it, and how do you manoeuvre it through locks, tunnels and swing bridges? If you get really keen how should you go about buying your own boat? Canal and river cruising answers all these questions and more. Written by an expert, and produced in collaboration with The Inland Waterways Association, it is a concise, authoritative guide to the practical aspects of cruising canals and navigable rivers. It gives you the information you need to ensure that you and your crew have a great time, wherever you go on the waterway network. Frommer's EasyGuide to River Cruising is the first book on the market to cover this wildly popular vacation activity. The book contains opinionated, no-holds-barred reviews of all of the major, and many of the smaller, river cruise lines (including specific reviews of their varying ship classes). These include advice on which boats offer the best value, which are best for luxury seekers, which will do the trick for foodies, which have high tech amenities, and which don't.

One chapter is only on booking: where can one find discounts, when one should use a travel agent, what's the timing for reserving your cruise and more. In addition, the book will aid cruisers trying to choose the right river to sail, in chapters that span the globe. What are the highlights of the Amazon, the Irawaddy (in Myanmar), the Mississippi, the Nile, the Seine, the Volga or the Upper Danube (to name just a few)? The book answers these questions and many others, discussing what are the best shore excursions along all the major waterways of the world; what are the most rewarding destinations to add on, either before or after a cruise; and what are the most fun off-the-beaten-path activities and Tom & Carol Sommers completed a season-long trip aboard the Dutch cruiser Orion through all twelve provinces of the Netherlands to research this cruising guide, a supplement to the book "Cruising the Canals & Rivers of the the Netherlands". The route followed Tom's personal obsession, searching for Star Forts along the waterways (and finding 29 of the 37 Star in Holland.) Included are maps, photos, touring suggestions and how-to-do-it details. The basic elements of the book were published in 2010 as "Cruising the Canals & Rivers of the the Netherlands on Orion", a black&white paperback. Reviewers asked for more maps and color photos; this new edition is larger format, with full color pages. It displays 191 color photos, 46 maps of provinces and regions showing the route that Orion followed and 42 maps of cities, towns and villages at a scale suitable for a walking tour guide. Waterway facilities, marinas and restaurants are updated through 2011. It is an essential handbook for those making a journey through the entire country or a short cruise in just one province. Presents travelers advice on research, trip insurance, air travel, cruises, vehicle rentals, traveling with children, specialty travel, and safety.
